

KARL C. KING IS NAMED UNANIMOUSLY TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

616 HOUSES ARE NOW 'ROOFED' AT FAIRLESS VILLAGE

92 Families Are Already Making Their Homes In New Development

4,000 BY YEAR 1952

Claim Village Will Have Own Civic Center With A Town Hall

FAIRLESS VILLAGE, Sept. 17—It is announced by the Danherst Corp., that 616 houses are now under roof in the development in Falls township. Ninety-two families are now residing here. Work on the project was started last May.

The development being built by John W. Galbreath, is being elected around what will be a thoroughly modern shopping center. Fairless will boast of its own civic center, complete with town hall, three schools, fire station, dispensary, church sites, parks, playgrounds and swimming pool. Sufficient space has been allotted to the shopping and civic areas to provide services for at least 4,000 families. A spokesman for the Danherst Corporation, said today that a minimum of 4,000 housing units will be finished in 1952.

"We are concentrating on providing good sound housing for as many families as possible this winter," explained Galbreath.

"We will start construction on the community and shopping center this autumn, with their completion scheduled for early summer. We are maintaining a very high production rate, but we're not compromising quality of construction. Nowhere else on the market today can you buy as much house for your dollar as Fairless homes will offer."

"Foot for foot, you can't find more usable living space in any moderate-priced house on the market today. These homes have been engineered and pre-fabricated by a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, and we all know that a name like that is sufficient guaranty of their worth."

Fairless homes are being built on an average lot size of 60x120 feet, and feature solid concrete slab construction over heavy foundations, with thick insulation under the slabs. The double walls are of marine plywood, with rockwool insulation. Use of washable lacquer on interior walls and liquid

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea—Communist troops were disclosed tonight to have used ground rocket fire in combat for the first time in Korea. Red introduction of the powerful rocket launchers, apparently similar to the "Katusha" weapons used by the Russians in World War II., was reported by Republic of Korea troops engaged in fierce fighting on the eastern front.

18,000-MILE JOURNEY

Princess Elizabeth, the heir-presumptive to the British throne, will visit the United States for the first time October 24, when she and her husband, Prince Philip, will interrupt their tour of Canada to visit Washington.

Many Americans will see the attractive, happily-married young royal couple during their brief visit.

How do they look? What do they say and think? What are their opinions on world affairs, marriage, movies, child-care and the high cost of living?

An International News Service staff writer gives the answers in this intimate story obtained from dozens of people in every-day contact with the royal couple and their two children.

In this article, the first of five, John E. Carlota tells how Philip has helped Elizabeth to reconcile her responsibilities as a wife and mother and a future queen.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

The meeting of the North Atlantic Council in Ottawa was expected to press this week toward the goals of expanding its authority into the Eastern Mediterranean, spurring its military program and industrial output and transforming the alliance from a strictly military one into a more closely coordinated economic and political combination. The United States delegation has agreed, in principle, that Western Europe should have more economic aid from this country to help meet the effects of rearmament on European living standards.

Chancellor Adenauer of the Western German republic appealed to the Western powers for greater speed in determining the nature and extent of German rearmament.

The Soviet Union was pictured at the half-way point in its march toward the industrial and agricultural basis that would form the foundation on which to build a planned Communist society replacing the present Socialist economic system.

British manufacturers were concerned about the growing competition that they foresaw from Japan and Western Germany as a result of the signing of the Japanese peace treaty and the promise of a larger degree of German independence.

With Malayan independence as their goal, representatives of many Malayan races and creeds met at

NOW LET'S ELECT HIM!

Bucks County won hands down on the proposition that it, and not Lehigh County, was entitled to select a Republican nominee for Congress.

The arguments in favor were unanswerable, and the Lehigh County conferees, after hearing the story, cheerfully and harmoniously withdrew the various potential candidates they had been discussing, and themselves furnished the spokesmen to nominate and second Mr. Karl C. King, nationally known produce farmer, whose "King Farms" are a familiar landmark of the region between Bristol and Trenton.

The choice wasn't made because it is Bucks County's "turn," nor was it because the present gigantic expansion here may shortly reverse the population balance and make Bucks County larger than Lehigh.

Lehigh County gave the selection to Bucks because the need is so great for the next Congressman to be a man completely familiar with the complex problems caused by expansion within three or four years which, under normal circumstances, would spread over half a century.

Everywhere one turns in the "Great Bend of the Delaware," there are tug-of-wars, jam-ups, road blocks—real or red-tape reasons why what has to be done quickly apparently can't be done at all.

Almost every one of these special problems leads to Washington. Controls over manpower and materials—and over money as well—are spread through the big and complicated structure of government which had to be thrown together in a hurry when the Korean emergency developed.

Whether the conflicts, overlaps and red-tape are justified or not is a matter of opinion, and that isn't the question anyway—regardless of how the situation arose, it must be faced, and the only way to get action in Washington is to have a competent Congressman on the scene there

SEE DOWNWARD TREND, P. A. ASSISTANCE ROLL

Drop Continues During Last Half of The Month of August

FIGURES FOR BUCKS

Figures released today by the Department of Public Assistance indicate that the downward movement in Pennsylvania's public assistance case load continued during the last half of August. The decline in the assistance rolls during the last half of the month amounted to 2,266 persons.

This latest decline was the 16th consecutive semi-monthly drop in the rolls since the beginning of the year and brought the total decrease for the period to 63,688 persons—a drop of 19 per cent.

As a result of the continued decline, Pennsylvania's public assistance rolls are now at the lowest levels since the fall of 1946. The total of 270,667 persons currently on the rolls is divided as follows

$70,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE ON FARM OF NORMAN B. WEBER, NEAR WOODBOURNE; LOSS INCLUDES 2600 CHICKENS, MACHINERY, GRAIN

WOODBOURNE, Sept. 17—Roaring through a two-story barn, filled with hay, concentrated feed, nearly 3,000 chickens, and machinery, on Saturday, fire caused loss of almost $70,000 at the farm of Norman B. Weber, near here.

Truck after truck, manned by volunteer firemen from numerous towns in the lower part of the county, rushed to the site, and from a small stream on the tract and from tank wagons poured tons upon tons of water on the structure. Firemen with some equipment remained throughout the afternoon, continuing to wet down the smoldering embers, with some firemen staying at their posts during the week-end to guard against additional break-out of the flames.

PEACE TALKS

TOKYO—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway invited the Communists in a note delivered today to arrange with the Allies for renewal of the long-dormant Korea armistice conference. Suddenly reviving fast-fading peace hopes, the United Nations supreme commander dropped his previous proposal to move the cease-fire negotiations from controversial Kaesong to some other site. He told the Red high command that "thorough investigations" showed no UN forces involved in violations of Kaesong's neutrality except for a mistaken aerial strafing for which the Allies already have apologized. He declared his readiness to send his liaison officers to a meeting "to discuss conditions that will be mutually satisfactory for a resumption of the armistice talks."

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Refuse Change of Venue

DOYLESTOWN—The petition asking for a change of venue in the case of the Commonwealth versus Walter J. Lowry, charged with the murder of David Sklar, president of the Safe Food Market at Croydon, was refused this morning by Judges Hiram H. Keller and Edward G. Blester. The opinion covered several pages and pointed out that it was not the newspaper stories which created any prejudice, if there was any; and that the Court had read the stories carefully, and found them to be fair; but that it was necessary to call a great number of jurors, because of the many jurors objecting to capital punishment, illness, and various other reasons. The Court believed fair trial would be given.

Iranian Troops Occupy Strategic Point in Tehran

TEHRAN—Iranian troops occupied strategic points in Tehran today as a guard against a reported attempt to overthrow the government. A high military source declared, however, that the reported threat against Premier Mohamed Mossadegh's regime appeared to be a "fake."

AFL Convenes on Grim War Note

SAN FRANCISCO—The 70th National Convention of the American Federation of Labor convenes in San Francisco today on a grim keynote warning the American people they must prepare for a possible war with Russia. A pre-convention report from the AFL Executive Board set the somber keynote for the convention. The board reviewed the past year of war in Korea and added—"We look forward to continued conflict with active fighting if that course favors Soviet long-time plans."

Nominee Has Resided 30 Years in The Heart of The Region Where Big Developments Are Taking Place—Services of Congressman Familiar With the Many Problems of Area are Necessary.

By Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17—Karl C. King, of Morrisville, nationally known produce grower, was unanimously nominated Saturday by a special conference committee representing the Republican county organizations of Bucks and Lehigh counties to run for the congressional vacancy now existing in the Eighth Pennsylvania Congressional District.

A special election has been called for November 6 by Governor Fine to fill the seat vacated September 1 by the death of the late Congressman Albert C. Vaughn, of Catasauqua, Lehigh county.

If Mr. King is successful in this special election, he will be the first Congressman from Bucks County in eighteen years.

The big argument in his favor, however, which produced unanimous and harmonious support for him in the conference sessions, was not that it is Bucks County's "turn" to furnish the Congressman, but that the special problems created by the spectacular expansion of industry and population in Lower Bucks County, due to the steel developments there, are so complex and urgent that they need the services in Washington of a Congressman personally familiar with them.

Mr. King has lived for thirty years in the heart of the region where this development centers, and has been intimately acquainted with all phases of the industrial and residential mushrooming there since it first began.

ON TELEVISION

Give television time and it will without doubt rise to the stature of radio at its best. If that best is bound to be rare, so it is with other forms of entertainment and education. If talent in preparation can do it, NBC's forthcoming series of United States and Allied naval operations in World War II ought to be good television fare.

Basis of the 26-episode series will be the naval histories of that engaging writer, Samuel Eliot Morison of Harvard University. Working on the scripts will be an English novelist, C. S. Forester, author of the "Captain Hornblower" stories. So much for what might be called the maritime background.

The music will come from the pen of an American composer of popular eminence who can write tunes, Richard Rodgers. His are the scores of "South Pacific" and "Oklahoma", among other numerous successes. At the entertainment festival now being staged in West Berlin Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma" is an excellent exhibit in popular American culture.

While Professor Morison of Harvard is broaching the world of entertainment, he might suggest that television, motion pictures or the theater examine his magnificent tale of the first trip to the Western Hemisphere of Christopher Columbus in his "Admiral of the Ocean Sea."

There ought to be superb dramatic material here, to which a wondrous musical score might be set.

OPS AND CAR PRICES

The Office of Price Stabilization has told automobile manufacturers that the order permitting them to raise prices of new passenger cars does not preclude applications for additional increases. But it hasn't told them whether the public will buy at the new levels. Some makers have doubts as to how high automobile prices can be boosted.

These doubts are well founded, if reports of showrooms jammed with glistening new models are correct. People who weren't interested in purchasing a car at the old prices can hardly be expected to turn into prospects at the news that the government has authorized still higher prices.

Which is to say that car dealers may have no alternative to a policy of absorbing the impact of higher prices. Some people in the automobile business are likely to get hurt pending the time when buyers are ready to buy at the new official ceilings.

The manufacturers are entitled to feel a strong surge of resentment at this situation. Car prices were the first to be put under ceilings and the OPS moved in to prevent price increases that the public, then in a mood to buy without arguing about prices, would have paid last December.

Now that the auto industry's need for higher prices has been conceded, it may have trouble doing business at the approved figures.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol, May 7, 1903. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

TULLYTOWN — The fishery has been doing a rushing business the past week. Three hauls on Saturday averaged a hundred shad each. The price for these fish continues high, being $40 a hundred, whole sale, for large roes, and sixty cents a head retail. Numerous visitors from foreign points call at the fishery store every Saturday, many of them purchasing shad for the Sunday dinner.

LANGHORNE — The Langhorne Sorosis have purchased the property on North Bellevue avenue known as the "Eastburn Homestead" for their club house. The building is admirably situated and adapted to the needs of the club as exemplified in the very pleasant profitable and social times spent there this winter through the courtesy of Anna Eastburn Willets.

Assessor Watt enrolled 630 school children between the ages of six and sixteen years in the Second ward.

Harry York is a candidate for the University of Pennsylvania Freshmen rowing crew.

The operation of a sprinkling cart could undoubtedly be made a paying venture, especially on Mill and Radcliffe streets. There is hardly a property owner who would not make a monthly contribution to have the streets sprinkled three or four times a day.

Martha Washington Chamber, No. 2, Knights of Friendship, will give one of their popular moonlight excursions to Washington Park on Friday evening, June 12. The committee is hard at work perfecting arrangements and everything possible will be done to make this the most enjoyable excursion of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Armstrong, of Logan street, Bristol, celebrated the golden anniversary of their marriage on Monday. Many relatives and friends called to pay their respects and numerous gifts were received. Mr. Armstrong is seventy-five years of age and his wife, sixty-six.

Preparatory to leasing his coal yard to a big dealer, William E. Doron has commenced the erection of new sheds at the foot of Market street, in Bristol. cupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, 100 feet from the barn.

Throughout the week-end sight-seers visited the site.

The loss is partially covered by insurance, Mr. Weber states.

The blaze was discovered at about 11 a. m. "We were on the farm and neighbors noticed the flames about the same time, I guess," Mr. Weber said in telling of the start of the fire. He is at a loss to state the cause, adding "No one was in the barn at the time that we know of but it apparently started in the hay now."

The structure, stone stable high, and the remainder covered with corrugated iron, appeared to be enveloped in flames within a few minutes. Firemen from communities near here were notified, and for an hour after as others heard of the fire they continued to converge on the site known as "Randall's Manor Farm." Tank wagons provided a good supply of water, and some firemen who had sufficient hose ran lines to the small stream on the property. The barn measured 150x50 feet.

Eighteen heifers were at pasture; and 30 head of cows owned by Weber were being cared for at two other farms.

Second Alarmers from Willow Grove provided food and beverages for the firemen throughout the day.

Mr. Weber has been doing general farming at the property since 1922. The barn had been built about 55 years ago, according to Weber.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Cameron G. Schreiner, of Morton, the bride was gownned in a white nylon lace redingote over white satin, fashioned with long sleeves, princess style with short train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a Bible upon which was a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Cameron G. Schreiner, of Morton, was her sister's matron of honor. She wore deep grape faille, made on princess lines, with cape. The street length costume had three-quarter length sleeves and sweetheart neckline. She wore a matching headdress and carried Talisman roses.

Miss Helen Jean Schondelmeyer, and Mrs. Raymond Taylor, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore lime satin gowns made with short sleeves, low neckline, long full skirts, with matching headdresses trimmed with flowers. Each carried a bouquet of pink gladioli.

Mr. Earl Yost was best man and ushers were Mr. Raymond Taylor, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mr. James Dawson.

Mrs. Anderson, the bride's mother, chose a gown of cinnamon colored crepe, brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Price chose a maroon crepe ensemble, black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

A reception in the social rooms of the church followed the ceremony. Following a honeymoon spent in the Pocono Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Price will be at home in the Larue Apartments.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Council Rock high school.

Well-Known Produce Grower To Serve As 8th District Representative

her Lehigh County friends, they withdrew after hearing the urgent reasons why Bucks County so seriously needs a Congressman from the Bristol-Morrisville region at the present time.

One point which was made was especially persuasive—that whereas in normal times homes and factories can be built rapidly out of normal uncontrolled supplies of labor and material, at present due to the emergency caused by the Korean War, steel and virtually all other building materials are under strict priority controls, with a great deal of inevitable confusion resulting, so that it is impossible to obtain speedy action without a Representative in Washington who is familiar with the details of the area's needs.

In campaigning for Congress, Mr. King will face a Democratic nominee not yet chosen. Unlike the Republicans, who set up a special conference committee consisting of representatives from the area in question, the Democrats have a State Policy Committee at Harrisburg which picks out the candidate for the district. This Policy Committee is meeting today to decide whom the Bucks and Lehigh county Democratic organizations are to support.

The machinery by which a between-elections vacancy in Congress is filled in this state calls for the Governor to name a date for a special election, which was done a week ago, with the regular general election November 6 being selected for the purpose.

Thereafter special meetings of the executive committees of the Bucks and Lehigh County Republican Committees were held, at which arrangements were made to name conferees.

Bucks was entitled to twenty-nine conferees, and Lehigh thirty-two, the number being determined by the total Republican vote in each county at the last presidential election.

tion, 1948, each thousand votes calling for one conferee.

Under the Republican party by-laws, the conference committee was summoned by the State Chairman, Senator M. Harvey Taylor, who called the conference together Saturday noon in the Warwick Hotel, Philadelphia.

By that time the Bucks and Lehigh delegations had caucused separately. The Bucks county group was unanimously for Mr. King, and designated Senator Edward B. Watson chairman on the floor of the conference, with power to cast the votes as a unit. Bucks County Chairman A. Harry Clayton presided at the Bucks county caucus.

The original understanding was that J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Esq., of Bristol, would make the formal nomination speech on behalf of Mr. King, putting his name before the two-county conference. This plan was abandoned later when it developed that the Lehigh County group wished to have the honor of the nominating and seconding speeches.

At the Lehigh County caucus, the question to be decided was whether to make a united-front demand to retain the Congressman in that county, which presumably have thrown the nomination to Miss Markley, if all Lehigh county conferees voted as a bloc, or to remember the many occasions in the past when Bucks County has deferred to the special needs of Lehigh County and allowed the Congressional seat to go there.

A number of special discussions were held at the request of the Lehigh County caucus, several of them with a five-member committee from Bucks County which the Lehigh county group asked to have appointed—consisting of County Chairman Clayton, Senator Watson, former U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Mrs. Clarence J. Buckman, former U. S. Senator Joseph R. and Mr. Kilcoyne.

Before the decision was finally reached, the delegates from Lehigh County called for Mr. King to appear before them. He was accompanied by Senator Watson.

During the day a certain amount of tenseness developed in the conference groups, relieved temporarily by the fact that they all dined together.

The apparent deadlock broke suddenly about three p. m., however, when the leaders of the Lehigh County delegation, who had been in caucus for more than an hour, came into the conference room wreathed in smiles, followed by the rest of the Lehigh conferees.

The moment that State Chairman Taylor called the session to order, Lehigh County Chairman Daubert rose and nominated Mr. King amid a burst of applause.

Within ten minutes, the nomination was completed, and the conference adjourned.

The present alignment of Bucks County with Lehigh County into a single Congressional District is the result of reapportionment which took place in 1931. Prior to that Bucks County had been linked with Montgomery County, which finally grew so big that it became entitled to a Congressman by itself.

From the time of the First World War until the redistricting of 1931, the Hon. Henry W. Watson, of Bucks County, served in Congress representing the Buck-Montgomery County district. After the separation of this district, and the regrouping of Bucks with Lehigh, Congressman Watson was re-elected to represent the new district. He lost heavily in Lehigh, but was pulled through by his big majority in his home county.

Congressman Watson died in 1933, calling for a special election—the first of three which the district has required in eighteen years. The Republican nominee was opposed by Oliver W. Frey, Democrat, who was a resident of Allentown, but born in Richland township, Bucks County. Mr. Frey was victorious, and was re-elected in 1934 and 1936.

In the '36 election, the Republican nominee led Frey in Bucks County, but was defeated by the vote in Lehigh.

In the Republican sweep of 1938, Charles L. Gerlach, of Lehigh County, brought the district back into the Republican column. In 1940 for the third time in a decade, the big Bucks County Republican majority pulled the Republican nominee successfully through, when Gerlach lost Lehigh County in the Roosevelt landslide that year.

Congressman Gerlach died in 1947, and the Hon. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, outstanding Republican leader in the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, was elected to succeed him in a contest which attracted nation-wide attention because it became a test of the then new Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

Toward the end of Congressman Lichtenwalter's first full term in 1950, he announced his withdrawal from Congress and from the position of Republican County Chairman in Lehigh County to become managing director of the Pennsylvania Electrical Association.

The Republicans nominated and elected the man who had served as executive assistant for both Congressman Gerlach and Congressman Lichtenwalter—Albert C. Vaughn, whose untimely death after serving only eight months of his first term produced the vacancy now about to be filled.

In eighteen years the entire balance of population and the concentration of industry between the two counties has shifted, and now is in process of reversing itself in windmill fashion.

At the time the two counties were linked in the 1931 redistricting, the population of Lehigh was nearly twice that of Bucks—172,000 to 96,000—and Bucks was primarily a suburban and agricultural community.

Trends released by the Second World War, however, already have greatly altered the picture. Lower Bucks County now is the home of a long list of major industrial plants, so that already it is pushing close to the manufacturing importance of the Allentown center, even before the present gigantic steel expansion is complete.

The last census showed the population figures to have climbed to 196,700 and 141,200 respectively—14 per cent increase for Lehigh County in twenty years, and about 50 per cent for Bucks.

Predictions are freely made that the population of Bucks county will jump 60,000 within the next five years, and 100,000 by the time of the next census. This growth, of course, would make Bucks much the larger county of the two.

The significant point, however, is not either the mere relative size of the two counties, nor their relative significance as industrial centers, but the question of the almost atomic speed with which the growth is taking place in Bucks County.

The growth of the Allentown-Bethlehem center, both as measured by population or manufacturing, was a matter covering better than half a century. The impetus which produced the cement and steel basic industries there, and the numerous "satellite" industries as well, rose out of the boom which followed the election of President McKinley in the mid-Nineties.

This is a colorful era in American history frequently minimized by historians, but one about which the record speaks for itself. In round numbers, Lehigh county grew 50,000 in the fifty years before 1890—100,000 since then. Or to make a different comparison, Pennsylvania's population almost doubled between 1890 and 1930, but hasn't grown appreciably since then.

The point is that the growth which spread through a long period of years in Lehigh County and elsewhere, is all being made at once in Bucks County. In three or four years, Lower Bucks county must find answers for all the great variety of problems involved in the transition from rural communities to dense population and concentrated industrialization—problems which other areas were able to work out gradually, step by step.

With control over so much of building essentials, raw materials, utilities and the like centered temporarily, for war-emergency purposes, in the hands of various branches and agencies of the national government, it is inescapable that the area will be immensely handicapped until the time comes when it can have its own congressional man, familiar with the problems at all their levels, on the job in the United States Congress.

plastic coating on exteriors, adds to the houses' durability and weather-tightness.

The homes are heated by thermostatically-controlled, blower-type gas furnaces with adjustable registers in every room. In the summer, due to the fact that the cold air return to the furnace is piped under the slab, the blower alone may be used as an air conditioner, reducing temperatures in the house at least 10 degrees.

Flooring is of asphalt tile, easy to wash and polish. Extensive use of insulating material throughout results in a dry, easy-to-heat home, in any climate.

Fairless, incidentally, unlike many other areas in Bucks County has its own sewage disposal system and water supply, both state-approved.

Rather than choose acreage close to U. S. Steel's big new plant on the Delaware River, John Galbreath went farther away, four and one-half miles west of steel plant gates, to choose his town site. Placed back in the rolling Bucks County hills, away from noise and traffic, Fairless will still be connected to the plant by direct access roads.

"Close enough for ease of commuting, yet far enough away for maximum enjoyment of quiet community life, that's the Fairless story," says Galbreath. "Fairless will be a community that will grow in beauty . . . a town to be proud of . . . a lasting contribution to the real wealth of Bucks County."

Miss Jean L. Bielecki and Donald H. Schaum Are Wed

St. Marks R. C. Church was the scene of an attractive wedding Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, when Miss Jean Louise Bielecki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine J. Bielecki, Jackson street, became the bride of Mr. Donald H. Schaum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Schaum, Jr., Roebling, N. J. The Rev. Paul E. Baird officiated at the double ring ceremony. Accompanied for the vocalist, Mrs. John Arena, was Miss Katherine Keating, Linden street.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, featuring an off-shoulder neckline delicately trimmed with Chantilly lace. The full skirt, with graceful train, revealed a ruffled effect formed by a center panel of nylon tulle accented with Chantilly lace. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion was attached to a satin helmet and she carried a bouquet of white pom-poms, lilies-of-the-valley, and ivy.

Miss Sophie Bielecki, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor; and the bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Stackhouse, New Buckle street, and Miss Dolores Listorti, Third ave.; Adel Boytos, Roebling, niece of the groom, served as flower girl.

The bridesmaids were attired in gowns of turquoise. Their bouffant skirts of nylon tulle were shirred at the waist and set off with a cummerbund band of bengaline. The strapless bodices were of shirred nylon tulle with a "cover-up" jacket of bengaline. They wore white shortie gloves; and turquoise helmets accented on the side with tawny and rust "mums"; and carried small bouquets of rust and tawny shades of pom-poms and fall leaves. The flower girl was pretty in a white organdy dress over turquoise taffeta. The sleeveless dress had a square neckline and a full skirt tied in a bow in the back; and a "cover-up" jacket of white organdy was worn. She wore white shortie gloves and a white helmet trimmed with lilies-of-the-valley, and carried various shades of pom-poms.

Mr. Steven Boytos, Roebling, served as best man; and the ushers were Messrs. William Schaum and George Malmos, Roebling. The bride's mother wore a pink suit with dark green accessories; and the bridegroom's mother chose a charcoal grey dress and black accessories. Both wore corsages of rubrum lilies.

A catered dinner was served at four o'clock at Penn Manor Club, Falls township, with a reception following.

For the honeymoon trip, Mrs. Donald Schaum chose an aqua knitted dress with cinnamon accessories and wore a corsage of rust "mums." Mr. and Mrs. Schaum will be at home at 127 Sixth avenue, Roebling after October 1st.

Today's Quiet Moment

By
The Rev. Stanley A. Powell, Jr.,
Rector of Christ P. E. Church,
Eddington, Vicar of St. Paul's
P. E. Church, Edgely.

"For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." Ephesians 6:12.

The text from one of St. Paul's letters is as meaningful to us today as it was in the early days of the Church. Everyday people come in contact with this demonic quality of living which pollutes human life as surely as vicious germ warfare can destroy human health. If the struggle were against other humans, some might stand a chance; but when the struggle is "against principalities, against powers, against spiritual wickedness in high places," then we can only turn to our God and say:

Almighty God, who has created man in thine own image; grant us grace fearlessly to contend against evil, and to make no peace with oppression; and that we may reverently use our freedom, help us to employ it in the maintenance of justice among men and nations, to the glory of Thy holy name; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

WARRIORS LOSE TO HATBORO BUT PLAY GOOD GAME

HATBORO, Sept. 17 — Hathboro High staved off two Bristol High threats, to beat the Warriors Saturday afternoon on the home field. Final score was: Hathboro, 14; Bristol, 6.

Bristol outplayed the home team in the second half of the tilt, registering seven first downs to the Hatters' three. Bristol had eight first downs in the tilt to the winners' seven.

But the Hathboro team made an unexcelled goal line stand in the first quarter which stopped the Warriors one foot away from the goal line and in the last period, Bristol was halted after reaching the 15-yard line of the Hatters.

Outstanding in the game was the line smashing tactics of Joe Muth, burly Bristol fullback, and the ball-carrying of Bob Belli, John Young, and John Stellander, of the resident club.

The Hathboro team scored the first time it received the ball. The play started with Muth kicking off to the Hathboro 35. Two line plays netted 9 yards and on third down, Lear sliced off tackle for a first on the 49 yard line. Stellander made 16 yards on an end run, putting the ball on the Bristol 35. A well-executed pass, Young to D. Belli, put the ball on the Bristol 10. Bob Belli cracked the line, carrying the ball to the 3. After Lear moved it up a little, Stellander smashed the left side of the Warriors' line for a TD. Bob Young took the ball around right end for the extra point, making the score, 7-0.

Bristol came back strong after the touchdown but was halted on the one-foot line. On one of Bristol punts, a fumble took place with Jack Gleason recovering on the 30. However, on the first play, Bristol went into the air with Vollmer intercepting on his 21. Hathboro was penalized five yards. On a fake kick, Gleason broke through and tossed Young for a 3-yard loss. Young kicked to Andy Accardi who ran the punt back from the 40 to the Hathboro 8. Muth put all his weight behind a line buck and netted 5 yards. Muth again carried the ball and was stopped one yard away. On the third try, Muth was downed about a foot away from the goal line. He tried again but could not make the touchdown. On the first play, Young faked a kick and ran the ball but was almost nailed behind the goal line. He then kicked out of bounds on the Hathboro 21. But a pass interception by Bob Belli gave Hathboro the ball.

Bristol made the score 7-6 by tallying immediately after the start of the second half. Bob Young kicked off to Heaton on the 20. He ran it to the 33. Muth found an opening at tackle and then did some broken field running to reach the Hathboro 30. Accardi and Muth netted 9 yards on two line plays. Gleason made a first down on the home team's 20. Accardi tossed a pass to Jack Meehan for a first down on the Hathboro 9 yard line. Gleason made four yards and Accardi, two. Muth went to the one-yard line and on fourth down went over. An end run for the conversion failed.

Hathboro was in possession of the ball after the touchdown getting two first downs, in succession to carry the ball from its 46 to the Bristol 30. Bristol held and took over on downs only to suffer a 15-yard penalty for piling on. A completed pass, B. Belli to D. Belli, put the ball on the Bristol 35 as the quarter came to a close.

The Hatters scored their insurance touchdown in the last quarter. After the pass put the ball on the 35, Bristol held for three downs. On the fourth, Accardi intercepted a pass on his 20. Three plays failed. On fourth down, Muth went back to kick. Lear broke through and blocked the punt. The ball hit his chest and bounced high into the air. Lear caught the ball near the goal line and went over for the score. Bob Young place-kicked the extra point to make the score, 14-6.

The boys of Coach "Chick" D'Angelo came back and almost registered another score. Bob Young kicked to Gleason on the 25. He ran it back to the 43. Muth made 12 yards on a line play. Accardi gained five, Gibbs failed on a fake, and then Muth cracked the left side for a first down on the Hathboro 31. Heaton made 11 yards on an end run to put the ball on the 20. Accardi's line smash was good for 5 yards but Bristol lost this on a penalty. Two yards were lost on a fumble. A long pass was dropped by Meehan on the three-yard line. Another pass, Accardi to Lester Gibbs was completed but Gibbs cut the wrong way and ran into two Hathboro tacklers, being stopped on the 14-yard line with only 3 to go for a first down.

a purse of $5,350 and gained 2,505 points in the national point championship race.

It was the largest field to ever compete on the Langhorne track and the cars got off to a good, clean start. Fonty Flock took the early lead and at the halfway point was still in front, followed by brother Tim and McGinley. At the 100-mile mark Fonty was still ahead but was being pushed by Tim. Fonty finally lost the lead at the 139-mile mark and Tim took over. At the end of the 135th mile, Tim had to pull into the pit and lost valuable ground.

Two of the day's thrills were provided when Bud Lechler tried to get into the inside of the track on the first turn but flipped into the infield (he climbed from his overturned car unhurt) and later when Bill Burnett flipped on the fourth turn. He also climbed out unhurt.

PENNSBURY OPENS SEASON WITH A CLOSE VICTORY

MORRISVILLE, Sept. 17—Pennsbury High opened its 1951 grid season with a close 12-6 victory over St. Francis Vocational School, of Edgington, on the Robert Morris field, here, Saturday night.

Two recoveries of the ball on St. Francis' "miscues" gave the Falcons the victory. In the first quarter, a bad pass from Tony Lippolis went over Wehe's head to the 5-yard line where Pennsbury recovered. It took Pennsbury four downs to make the remaining distance, with Mickey Bray taking the piskin over.

The boys of Coach George Jamoska made it 12-0 in the second quarter when Bob Cola recovered a fumbled punt by Brown on the one-yard line. Art Edwards took the ball over.

St. Francis crossed the goal line in the final session. Gus DeLello ran back a punt for about 40 yards to put the ball at mid-field. St. Francis then netted two first downs to place the ball in scoring position with Ambrose Wickes going over from the 2-yard line.

Pennsbury was without the services of two first-string backs, Jack Sands and Granny Mayo. St. Francis lost its fullback, McLaughlin, in the first few minutes of play.
